

Some Principles of Intuitive Perception

Copyright by Penney Peirce Communications

- Intuition functions only in the present moment and only when the conscious mind is centered and merged with the physical body.
- The universe is efficient; you always know just what you need to know, just when you need to know it.
- Intuition cuts through the normal limitations of time and space. With intuitive knowing, we understand the principles of physics' unified field, where all time, space, beings, dimensions, and events are interconnected and mutually sourcing. There is no degree of difficulty knowing past, future, parallel worlds, or what it's like to be someone else.
- The inner and outer reality arise simultaneously; question and answer always exist together.
- An inner "blueprint"—composed of personal experience, concept and belief, intent, imagination, sensation, emotion, soul need, desire, and energy—exactly manifests an external three-dimensional version of itself that we call "reality." We can be conscious or unconscious about our inner blueprint, and it still manifests our reality. The inner blueprint can evolve as we move past limiting beliefs into the world of possibility. Intuition lets us see and intentionally work with the inner blueprint to be more successful in manifesting the soul's purpose and talents.
- Inner blueprints are composed of a combination of fear/ignorance and love/clarity. If there is a secret, misunderstanding, or hidden agenda in the inner blueprint, it will surface as sabotage, a snag, or poor results. Clearing fear and ignorance from our inner self facilitates amazing success!
- The more conscious the inner blueprint, and the more loving, the faster the results.
- The microcosm (individual consciousness) and macrocosm (collective consciousness) are versions of each other and one changes when the other changes. They constantly feed each other.
- Love is a palpable, efficient force; it opens intuition, motivates people, helps manifest perfect results, and creates win-win solutions; love-based operational models function more effectively than will-based models.
- Energy follow thought: if you project your attention away from the here-and-now, away from your own core experience, you will feel drained. If you remain centered and place attention on your own life force, you will have abundant energy. If you think negatively, you lose energy. If you maintain enthusiasm, you build energy.
- Thought follows energy: if you move your body, vary your routine, meditate regularly, and rest when you're tired, your awareness will remain active, creative, and dynamic. If you push yourself, do one thing too long, or are underactive, your awareness will become dull and depressed.

